New U.S. Move In Laos Hinted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration was reported today on the verge of important decisions dealing with the strife in Laos. But officials ruled out any possibility U.S. troops would be sent there now.

The officials made clear, however, that every other range of action is under consideration. And President Kennedy may discuss possible courses of action when he meets with the National Security Council.

Kennedy described the Laos situation Friday as "most serious . . . It is a matter of the greatest concern to us."

Addressing the American Society of Newspaper Editors, the President said the fact that pro-Communist forces have not heeded the call of neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma to halt attacks on neutralist troops "raised the question of the imminent destruction of the Geneva accords."

"We will have a chance to see in the next few days," Kennedy added.

The Geneva accords, signed by 14 nations, guaranteed Laos' neutrality under a coalition government.

But fighting has broken out again. Pathet Lao pro-Communist forces are driving to smash neutralist troops in the strategic Plain des Jarres in east-central Laos. Its capture would solidify the pro-Communist domination of northern Laos.

Loss of the Plain also would destroy the middle ground the neutralists occupied between the rightist and leftist armies.

There was speculation that the United States could either send back its forces into Thailand or call on other members of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization to speed up the date for military maneuvers now scheduled for mid-June in northern Thailand.

The SEATO maneuvers, planned long before the current emergency, involve ground operations, paratroopers and air drops in a counterinsurgency exercise.

All eight SEATO nations are scheduled to take part in some phase of the operation—the United States, Thailand, the Philippines, Britain and France.

Rubber Union Negotiations Are Pushed

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Negotiations continued today between the United Rubber Workers Union and three big rubber producers in an effort to replace contracts that expire at midnight Saturday.

URW members have given their negotiators authority to call a strike at plants of Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., B. F. Goodrich Co. and Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. Union and management sources have maintained their past policy of making no reports on the progress of talks involving more than 50,000 workers in the rubber industry.

Firestone talks are being held in Columbus, with URW International President George Burdon sitting in. He said Friday he was hopeful an agreement could be reached before the deadline.

Contract talks with Goodyear are under way in Cincinnati and those with Goodrich in Dayton.

A settlement with one of the major firms could set a pattern for the rest, including the U. S. Tire & Rubber Co. and the General Tire & Rubber Co. Those contracts do not run out until later.

Current negotiations involve wages, supplemental unemployment benefits, a union proposal for sharing in increased productivity and one for Sabbatical vacations for senior employees, plus other fringe benefits.

Kidnap Trial Slated

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — John Henry Turner, 20, will be returned to Dayton, Ohio, early next week to face trial for kidnapping his 3-year-old crippled stepson, Jeffrey.

Cuban Invasion Now Labeled As 'Mistake'

JFK Denies Making Pledge to Exile Chief For Military Thrust

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has denied ever promising a U.S. invasion of Cuba and has ruled out that kind of venture now.

"It would be a mistake," he said.

But "time will see Cuba free again," the President told the American Society of Newspaper Editors Friday, "and I think when that happens the record will show that the United States has played a significant role."

The President also ruled out another kind of venture: an administration onslaught against the steel industry for raising prices last week.

Kennedy described the boosts as selected price increases that were "responsive to market situations." "It represents, really, about a 1 per cent price increase for steel products which restores really the 1 per cent that has been lost since 1959 in the price of steel," Kennedy told the editors.

But the President said he was concerned about the psychological effect of the increase and hoped steel-using manufacturers would absorb the new costs and not pass them on to the public.

"I know the steel industry, it seems to me, has acted with some restraint in this case, which I think is very useful," he said. "I am hopeful that other companies, particularly in the auto industry, will act with similar restraint, and that the union itself will guide its conduct in accordance with its long-range interest, which is the national interest."

But the editors, while curious whether the country would see a repeat of the Kennedy-steel battle of last year, seemed more concerned about Cuba than steel prices. At least, the bulk of their questions, submitted in writing, touched on the Communist state of Fidel Castro.

Kennedy was asked to comment on the accusation by Cuban refugee leader Jose Miro Cardona that Kennedy had reneged on a promise to invade Cuba.

Castro Says Miro Verifies Cuban Fears

HAVANA (AP)—Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro says he armed his island with Soviet missiles because he knew of plans for a second invasion and now has proof he was right.

Making the most of the split between former exile leader Jose Miro Cardona and the Kennedy administration, Castro told the nation over television Friday night, "Now the whole world will know who was responsible for the Caribbean crisis."

He said Miro's lengthy resignation statement proved Cuba was right in preparing "to resist the new imperialist aggression."

Miro resigned Thursday as president of the Cuban Revolutionary Council, charging that Kennedy backed down on a promise for a second invasion. The U. S. State Department has described Miro's charges as "highly inaccurate and distorted."

Castro called Cuba's military pact with the Soviet Union one of several "brave and necessary measures to justify the warlike and aggressive adventures."

"Here are the proofs, written by no less than the head of the counterrevolutionaries," he said.

"The government of Cuba, along with the Soviet government had knowledge of these plans for aggression against Cuba and thus in the month of June conversations were held between the representatives of the Soviet government and the Cuban government in respect to this situation and the measures to take," he added.

Hitskip Storms in Ohio Cause $1 Million Damage

EDITORS HEAR KENNEDY DEFEND HIS FISCAL POLICIES — Addressing the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington, President Kennedy points to a chart as he defends his fiscal policies. He declared deep cuts in his budget would cripple defense and space programs and cost the economy one million jobs. He also commended the steel industry for showing restraint in its recent round of price increases.

Bathyscaphe May Unravel Sub Mystery If It Is Found

WASHINGTON (AP)—The eyes of men and cameras in the bathyscaphe Trieste may provide the only factual evidence of why the nuclear submarine Thresher sank in a mile and a half of Atlantic water, carrying 129 persons down with her.

Even that is uncertain, depending on other factors—among them the question of whether the wreck will be located.

"It is going to be very difficult to find the Thresher," Rear Adm. John S. McCain, chief of Navy information and a veteran submariner, said Friday night.

He added the search may go on for weeks or months in the effort to locate, by scientific devices, the exact spot more than 8000 feet down where the remains of the lost submarine rests.

And the skipper of the Trieste, Lt. Cmdr. Donald L. Keach, makes plain that unless the wreck can be located first the bathyscaphe can't be used. If the Thresher is located, the bathyscaphe can provide visual and photographic data which might show what happened as she plunged deep down after beginning a test dive.

Keach was in Washington Friday, stopping en route to Boston where the Trieste, aboard a dock ship, is due on April 27. He met reporters in a news conference and gave them, through a briefing and pictures, a detailed account of the nature and history of the weird-looking research ship.

Here, in substance, is what his description, pictures and prepared data showed:

The Trieste was purchased in 1958 by the Navy from its developers, Dr. Auguste Piccard and his son Jacques, for use by the Office of Naval Research. It was Eleven were in the small overboard fishing boat when it overturned about midnight, the Highway Patrol said.

The bodies of Mrs. Ola Pruitt, 47, and John Caves, 2, a grandchild, were recovered about midnight, the Highway Patrol said.

Reported missing are Mrs. Ola Mae Caves, 15, mother of John; Eli Caves, 5; Monk Caves, about 3, and Billy Caves, 7.

Officers said Charles Caves 18, husband of the 15-year-old girl, was operating the boat when it came swamped. They said he swam to shore and that a 10-year old brother Jimmy, held to the boat.

Belmont Sheriff Slated For His Second Trial

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Sheriff George E. Neff, 42, of Belmont County, goes on trial Monday for the second time on one of four indictments charging attempts to solicit bribes.

The first trial, with Common Pleas Court Judge Delbert Tidrick of Guernsey County presiding, ended with a hung jury after four days of hearings.

Neff, elected by an overwhelming majority two years ago, played football at Ohio State University for one season. He also played a short time with the Detroit Lions.

Storm Damage Is Light Here

No serious damage was reported here as the result of thunderstorms that occurred yesterday afternoon and evening.

Although high-speed winds and a heavy rainfall were recorded, local law enforcement agencies said damage was held to a minimum.

The local weather bureau reported 0.68 of an inch of rainfall was recorded within a 12-minute period yesterday afternoon. Total rainfall was 1.29 inches.

Circleville Police said an electric sign at the Scioto Elks' Lodge, S. Scioto St., was downed by high winds. Several large tree limbs also fell during the afternoon storm.

NO APPARENT damage was reported as a result of the second storm between 8:30 and 9 p. m. The weekend forecast calls for fair skies and temperature extremes of 44-76.

The convention concludes Saturday night, April 27, with awarding of State Farmer degrees.

New Evidence Points to Fire Aboard Sub

PORTSMOUTH N. H. (AP) — A large piece of polyethylene plastic found with the new debris at the scene of the submarine Thresher sinking, showed charred spots, indicating it was burned "in a rush of flame," a naval court of inquiry was told today.

The plastic piece, about 18 inches square, was introduced as evidence at the resumed hearings at the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard.

Frederick L. Downs, a chemist who is conducting tests on the debris, testified the plastic was of the type commonly found in submarines of the Thresher class. He said it is used in the reactor shielding on nuclear-powered ships.

Downs testified that the plastic showed indications "that it had been in contact with a rush of flame."

There were bits of metal imbedded in it also, he said. There are to be further tests, he added.

Also presented to the court were two pads, which appeared to be the stuffing from the inside of a life jacket.

Cantoneses Are Ordered To Kill Flies and Rats

MACAO (AP)—Adults in the Red Chinese provincial capital of Canton are required to kill 100 flies a week and one rat a day or face penalties, a recent arrival in this Portuguese island colony from the Communist mainland said today.

The informant said Cantoneses must turn over their kill to police as part of a summer sanitary campaign launched by Communist authorities.

Tornado Dips To Ground in Lorain County

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Damage mounted past the million dollar mark as Ohioans weighed the effects of Friday's wind and rain storms that hit here, then there, then here again in raking the state's northeast, central and southwest sectors.

At least one tornado dipped down from out of the line of thunderstorms that produced brief but blustery outbursts in many populous areas during both afternoon and night.

Storms moved in from Indiana and from Lake Erie to rip off roofs, fell garages, blow down trees and power lines and shatter hundreds of windows.

No fatalities were reported, and few injuries, despite winds that gusted at 40, 50, 60, 70 and in places up to 100 miles per hour.

The hitskip squalls belted Greater Cleveland, Akron, Lorain, Canton, Youngstown, Warren, Columbus, Marion, Wilmington, Wooster and the Dayton Xenia area among others. Some places, like Columbus, and Lake County east of Cleveland, were hit at least twice.

In Akron, high winds and heavy rains tore through a mile and a half area of the city's east side and suburban Mogadore. There were wind gusts of up to 90 m.p.h., accompanied by rainfall of a half-inch in less than 10 minutes. A funnel-shaped cloud was seen but the Weather Bureau could not confirm any tornado.

The front wall of the U.S. Stone-ware Co. factory in Springfield Twp. near Akron was heavily damaged and a third of it collapsed. The factory roof also was badly battered. The roof of a Giant Tiger discount store in Akron's Ellet section blew away.

Winds in Cleveland with gusts up to 40 m.p.h. caused telephone and electrical trouble. A quarter-inch of rain fell during the big blow and another quarter-inch in showers afterward. Power was knocked out in 700 Cleveland homes and 200 in Richmond Heights.

Leke County Memorial Hospital West had no regular phone service for 2 1/2 hours and Willoughby police took emergency hospital calls. Phones also were out in Eastlake, Bay Village, Rocky River, Parma and other suburbs.

The Weather Bureau verified that a tornado ripped through Lorain County — evidently without anyone seeing it. Forecaster Rob Paddock said the twister touched down briefly twice as it skipped along a 200-yard path in North Ridgeville. It knocked down at least one barn and caused utility service interruption, but no known injuries. Paddock said the peculiar pattern in which the winds yanked off the tops of trees indicated it was a tornado.

Loss was estimated at upward of $100,000 as a storm blew over a hangar and damaged 16 planes at the Youngstown Executive Airport in Austintown Twp. Utility lines and trees littered the entire Youngstown area.

Fallen trees and wires closed several streets in Warren, where weather observers clocked winds at 71 m.p.h. at Vienna Airport. (Continued on Page 10)

Boston College Set To Hear Kennedy

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — President Kennedy makes a quick visit to his home state today to speak at an academic convocation climaxing Centennial Week at Boston College.

The Very Rev. Michael P. Walsh S. J., president of the college, announced in advance the names of three persons to be awarded honorary degrees at the convocation.

They are Nathan M. Pusey, president of Harvard University, the Very Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S. J., president of Georgetown University, oldest Jesuit university in the nation, and Barbara Ward, British economist.

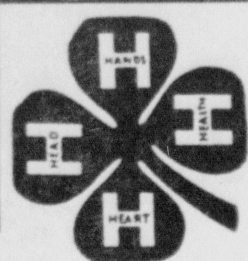

President Kennedy received an honorary degree from Boston College while he was a U.S. senator from Massachusetts.

4-H Club News

By EDWIN D. TAYLOR
County Extension Agent, 4-H

The officers and advisers conference is scheduled for 8 p. m. Wednesday at Jackson School.

There will be training sessions for presidents and vice presidents, secretaries, health and safety leaders, news reporters and recreation leaders. There also will be a problem and idea swap session for advisers.

All 4-H officers and advisers are invited to the meeting. Refreshments will be served by the Jackson 4-H clubs.

A Coshocton printing company executive is one of nine adults who will receive special honors in Washington D. C. next week for outstanding contributions to 4-H Club work in America.

He is W. W. Hunter, vice president of Shaw-Barton, Inc., a calendar printing firm which each year publishes a 4-H calendar.

Hunter and seven other men and one woman have been named as "Partners in 4-H" and will receive citations in a general assembly of the National 4-H Conference April 26. Each will receive a framed certificate from Dr. E. T. York, administrator of the Federal Extension Service.

Hunter has been a strong supporter of 4-H for many years. He takes an active part in 4-H activities, both on a county and a state level. Last year served as a consultant at the state 4-H Club Congress in Columbus.

He lives on a small farm where he maintains a herd of registered Hereford cattle. His daughter is a 4-H member and his two sons former members.

Other persons in line for the "Partners in 4-H" award are: John A. Barr, president, Montgomery Ward; J. Earl Coke, vice president, Bank of America, San Francisco; Joseph Davis, legal counsel, Chicago; Dr. E. W. Mueller, executive secretary, Church in Town and Country, National Lutheran Council, Chicago; Frank J. Reynolds, industry manager for agriculture, U. S. Steel Corp., Pittsburgh; Craig Smith, president, Avondale Mills, Birmingham, Ala.; Miss Hilda Watson, NBC public affairs coordinator (retired), New York; and Jacob White, president, nitrogen division of Allied Chemical Corp., New York.

The National 4-H Conference opening this Saturday will bring together boys and girls from 50 states and Puerto Rico for a 6-day program based on the theme, "Our Heritage — Foundation For The Future."

Four club delegates from Ohio, Alvin Albert F. Gehres, State 4-H Club leader, and S. P. Bruny, 4-H Club supervisor, will attend.

Saltcreek Livestock

By Bobby Collins
Saltcreek Livestock met for its fourth meeting in the Saltcreek School cafeteria.

The meeting was conducted by the president, Mark Speakman. Janet Hedges directed devotions and Ricky Macklin led the club pledge.

Ed Taylor was a visitor at the meeting. He talked on the officers meeting to be held April 24. He also told of plans for camping sessions this year and gave the dates for each camp.

The next meeting will be May 6.

Darby Fine and Dandy

By Linda Vance

President Jim Garrett called the safety meeting of the Darby Fine and Dandy 4-H club to order April 16 at the Darby Twp. School. Members answered roll by telling some safety measure they had taken since the last meeting.

The meeting was then turned over to Mike Kahler, safety leader. He introduced Pickaway County Sheriff Walton W. Spangler who presented a talk on safety and showed pictures of various accidents.

Club programs were distributed following the meeting.

The next meeting will be 7:30 p.m. May 7, at Darby Twp. School. It will be a health session with health leader Cynthia McKay in charge of the program.

Sew Straight Teenettes

By Locke MacKenzie

The second meeting of the Sew Straight Teenettes, held April 3 in the 4-H and Grange Building was called to order by Mrs. Wertman, adviser. Officers elected were: Beth Rickey, president; Sheryl Wood, vice president; Kay Felkey, secretary; Karen Chelkowski, treasurer; Locke MacKenzie, news reporter; Lynn Rickey, health leader; Lynn Cook, safety leader; Pam Speakman, recreation; Ann Cook, Ann Gunther, Nancy Pickel and Barbara Wardell, sergeant-at-arms.

It was decided that regular meetings will be held 7 p. m. the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month at the 4-H and Grange Building. Project and officers books were distributed.

The third meeting was held April 9 in the 4-H and Grange Building. New officers were installed and Beth Rickey presided over the remainder of the meeting. Roll was answered by giving the projects to be taken this year.

A letter from the American Cancer Society was read and discussed.

Dues were collected and the meeting adjourned.

The next regular meeting was set for April 22 at the 4-H and Grange Building.

Look for Clues That Indicate Unsafe Water

Bad tastes and odors may be clues that water supplies are unsafe. But these are not reliable ones, says Melville L. Palmer, Ohio State University Extension agricultural engineer.

water can contain large numbers of bacteria or viruses, according to Palmer. He suggests water supplies be tested at least once a year or at any time contamination is suspected. County health departments will arrange for such tests free of charge.

Temporary contamination can result from a leak in the well seal, repairs made to the water system or seepage from heavy rains. All new wells should be disinfected and tested before the water is used.

The Ohio Department of Health recommends this do-it-yourself procedure for disinfecting water:

Make up a strong chlorine solution by mixing one gallon of 5 percent laundry bleach in four gallons of water, or two pounds of chlorine of lime in five gallons of water.

Pour one-half of this batch into the well or cistern and mix as much as possible.

Start the pump and open all taps until water from each one has a distinct chlorine odor. Stop the pump and add the other half of the batch.

Allow the water in the system to stand for 12 to 24 hours, then pump the supply until the chlorine odor disappears.

Ask your county health department to collect water samples before you use the water. If possible, have another sample taken after two weeks as an additional check. A second disinfection may be necessary.

If the water still is unsafe, after disinfections, locate another source of water or provide continuous, automatic chlorination, Palmer says. For emergencies, drinking water can be disinfected by boiling it vigorously for two minutes.

A PROPERLY constructed drilled well usually is the safest, most reliable source of water in areas beyond the reach of a water main.

ON OHIO soils that are suitable for corn production, plant population should range between 17,000 and 19,000 mature plants to the acre at harvest time.

THE U. S. DEPARTMENT of Agriculture predicts that 10 to 15 percent more fed beef may be marketed in April, May and June this year than during the same period in 1962.

ALMOST 8 per cent of the total value of horticultural specialty crops in Ohio is from those grown under glass, say Ohio State University Extension horticulturists.

CARPET BEETLES are a part of Nature's cleanup squad. Sometimes they live in birds' nests where they eat feathers and other debris. They can enter houses through open doors and windows.

DO NOT use any insecticide without first reading the label for precautions and directions, warn Ohio State University Entomologists.

DURING THIS school year, 15 million American children will eat nearly 2.5 billion well-balanced lunches in more than 65,000 schools served by the National School lunch program.

FLO-LIZER FERTILIZER

Formulated to your individual farm and crop needs with fertility granules supplied by Monsanto Chemical Company.

You Get Nitrogen:

Containing nitrate nitrogen and ammonia nitrogen.

This means your crops get fast acting nitrogen and nitrogen available for later crop needs.

You Get Phosphorous:

A. High analysis superphosphate (46%) and high water solubility (80 to 83%).

This provides your crops with phosphorus in highly refined form and immediately available.

B. Diamonium phosphate (18-46-0), processed with the nitrogen-phosphorus ratio for best plant use. Water solubility, 90 plus %.

You are assured of efficient phosphorus usage by your plants.

You Get Potash:

In the muriate form. Registered with the State of Ohio as 60% potash.

You are assured of potash for your crop benefits in the form used by 90% of U. S. Agriculture needs.

You Get Trace Elements

Found originally in the mined raw fertilizer materials.

You May Choose Added Trace Elements

Which means you may test your soil for trace element deficiency and have Flo-lizer add any specific trace elements needed at the correct amounts per acre for your specific crops.

You Get Specified Granule Size

This assures you even distribution of granular nutrients.

You May Use Bagged or Bulk Fertilizer

This permits you to choose bulk fertilizer and save money on fertilizer cost, save time and save money on fertilizer handling. You may choose to have Flo-lizer spread your fertilizer or, provide a spreader for your own use.

You May Choose Granular or Liquid Fertilizer

This gives you availability of liquid nitrogen or complete analysis liquid fertilizers.

FLO-LIZER purchases all fertilizer ingredients on specifications; The best materials money will buy are used. When you use FLO-LIZER you are using a PREMIUM fertilizer.

Duval Busy Fingers By Lucy Vause

The fifth meeting of the Duval Busy Fingers was held April 8 at the home of Jody Deal.

The meeting opened by Ruth Coon leading the Pledge to the American flag and Kathy Campbell leading the 4-H Pledge. Nine teen girls answered roll call by telling why they were in 4-H.

Gwen Roberts, Carol Gutheil and Marjorie Custer were appointed by the president to serve on the program committee for the Mother's Tea in May. Beverly Koch and Betty Sue Baum were appointed by the president to make invitations.

Refreshments were served by Jody Deal, Gwen Roberts and Kathy Penn.

The next meeting will be at Scioto Valley Grange Hall 7 p. m. April 22.

Let's Sew girls worked on their towels. Cooking girls discussed table setting and preparation of meals.

Greenlight 4-H Kathleen LaRue

Vaughn Grubb Jr. was elected president of the Greenlight 4-H club at Stoutsville Junior High School, on April 15.

Other officers elected were: Gary Smith, vice president; Janet Smith, secretary; Carl Reinhold, treasurer; Kathleen LaRue, news reporter; Gene Aldenderfer, song leader; Jeff Smith, health and safety director; and Carl Adams and Marty Hutchinson, recreational leaders.

Gary Smith and Marty Hutchinson will be the new Junior leaders.

The officers meeting will be held at the home of Jack LaRue, club adviser, on April 21 to plan the club program for the year.

Next club meeting will be May 9 at the home of Kathleen LaRue. The Greenlight 4-H Club has been active since 1924.

Duval Go-Getters

The fourth meeting of the Duval Go-Getters 4-H Club was held April 9 at the South Bloomfield Municipal Building.

Possibilities for a community project were discussed, but nothing definite was decided.

Members were reminded that their hog projects are due May 1. Refreshments were served by Benny Vause.

Jim Chaplin gave a feed demonstration. The next meeting will be April 22 at Scioto School.

Jackson Livestock By Jim Minor

The fourth meeting of the Jackson Livestock 4-H club was called to order on April 9.

Gene Kerns, from the Sheriff's Department, showed a movie on "Drive Defensively". Jim Minor led the club in the 4-H Pledge and Ronnie Justus the pledge to the flag.

The club will help donate refreshments for the officers and advisers conference to be held at Jackson School on April 24.

The next meeting will be April 23 at the school.

Roundtown Mixing Bowls By Joyce Ankrum

The Roundtown Mixing Bowls held their third meeting April 19. President Beth Smith called the meeting to order.

The club mixed and baked cookies during the meeting.

The next meeting will be held April 17. It will be a safety session.

Refreshments were served by Joyce Ankrum.

Westfall Livestock By Richard Thornton

The fourth meeting of the club was held April 9 at Wayne Twp. school. Thirty-five members answered roll call.

A money making project was discussed. Roy Carter led the 4-H Club Pledge.

The meeting was turned over to the safety leader, Susan Horst, who gave a talk on safety and passed out information on safety.

The next meeting will be held at the Wayne Township school at 3:30 p. m. April 23.

Pickaway Livewires By Mike Burton

The Pickaway Livewires held their first meeting at Pickaway School. The meeting was opened by the 4-H Pledge led by Donald Schaal.

It was decided that dues will be 10 cents. Projects for the coming year were discussed by our advisers.

Refreshments were served by Jim Parker, Joe Parker and Terry McKnight.

The next meeting will be April 25.

Pickaway Soil Savers By Bruce Wolford

The first meeting of the Pickaway Soil Savers was called to order by the adviser, Don Archer.

Elected officers were Tom Duval, president; Ray Noecker, vice president; Doug Dunkle, secretary; John Hamrick, treasurer; Roe Riegel, health and safety leader; Bruce Wolford, news reporter.

The discussion for the evening was the meaning of conservation.

Pig Creep Feed Consumption Is Affected by Many Factors

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

When a suckling pig has consumed the sow's milk supply, it has little appetite for any creep feed until about two weeks of age.

Then the pig starts to eat a little of the feed. If it tastes good, he'll eat more.

Palatability is a critical factor in this early creep feeding. It is the subject of a series of trials being conducted by Dr. Howard Teague at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

This work has been aimed at increasing the palatability and thus increasing the amount of creep feed consumed by suckling pigs from the second through the

and the effect of the glacier on Ohio.

Town and Country By Brenda Lemaster

The fifth meeting of the club was held April 8 at the home of Nancy Pickel.

The club will visit the Ohio State Museum and a potato chip plant as part of the yearly tours.

First aid members read and discussed their lesson. Refreshments were served by Nancy Pickel.

The next session will be a health meeting on April 27 at the home of Sharon Mace.

Buttons and Bowls By Ann O'Brien

The fourth meeting of the Buttons and Bowls was held April 8 at the 4-H and Grange Building. Roll call was answered by naming favorite flowers.

Demonstrations were given by Cheryl Burton, Ann O'Brien, Betsy Hamrick, Kathy Sanserainte and Veronica Locke. Refreshments were served by Carol Ann Spangler, Linda Trimmer and Veronica Matty.

The next meeting will be held April 22 at the 4-H and Grange Building.

The Tractor Lugs By Don Balthaser

The first meeting of the Pickaway County tractor club was held on April 8 at the home of Frank Lands.

Arthur Leist is assistant adviser. Six members were present.

Officers for the year are: Alan Dill, president; Danny Tipton, vice president; Don Balthaser, secretary and news reporter; Gayle Fosnaugh, treasurer; and Jim Lands — safety and health leader.

It was decided to have meetings on the second and fourth Wednesdays and to change the name of the club to the Tractor Lugs.

The next meeting will be April 24 at the home of Frank Lands.

Too Much Tillage Damages Seedbeds

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

How well do our tillage implements prepare the soil for a seedbed?

The added or extra passes with a disk harrow can actually damage the soil environmental conditions around the seed, according to Dr. William H. Johnson at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station. "Our test results show one disking can be better than three," he said.

To conduct the Station tests, a laboratory method was used to separate soil granules into specific size ranges for a study of drying rates and seed emergence. Higher drying rates were found with larger granules, and a lower emergence of corn resulted.

Compacting one-fourth inch soil granules with a five pounds per square inch pressure wasn't as effective in reducing the drying rate as was the presence of fine granules.

SOIL CRUSTING and low infiltration rates pose serious problems however, when a soil profile is made up entirely of fine granules. The tests showed that a stratified treatment with coarse granules on top and lightly compacted fine granules in the seed zone was best.

How closely do our tillage implements come to providing the ideal seedbed? Disking once came closer to it than repeated disking. When a plosed treatment was worked three times, the fine granules appeared to sink to the lowest level of penetration, while the larger granules floated to the top.

Similar movements of soil particles would occur when strip preparations are used.

Thus, the added passes with a tillage machine can reduce the efficiency of a good seedbed. Further, machine adjustment should keep the maximum penetration close to the intended planting depth, specially if more than one pass is made.

According to Dr. Johnson, you can't evaluate a seedbed by looking at the soil surface. "Your have to look deeper," he concluded.

Dayton Voters To Examine City Setup

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Dayton voters will go to the polls this summer to decide whether to re-vamp its system of city government.

Petitions calling for a special election on proposals to increase the size of the city commission and means of electing the mayor and commissioners were certified County Board of Elections.

The board instructed the city commission to call on election this summer, probably Aug. 13, for a vote on the referendum.

The Committee for Representative Government, which circulated and filed the petitions, supports the following changes in Dayton's form of government:

Election of a fulltime mayor at an annual salary of $22,000. The present part-time mayor receives a token salary of $1,800 a year.

Division of the city into nine wards with one commissioner elected from each. The present five commissioners are elected at large.

Election of the major and commissioners on partisan ballots.

Under the proposed changes, the city apparently would still have a city manager, but it was not indicated whether his salary would continue to be $26,000 a year.

Evacuation Planned For A-Test Area

PURVIS, Miss. (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission says it will evacuate the area of its planned underground nuclear explosions this summer as a precaution.

James E. Reeves of Las Vegas, Nev., official of the AEC, said Thursday night that the area to be evacuated would be determined after a safety survey to start Monday. The survey is expected to take two weeks.

He said the first detonation in the Tatu malt Dome, about 23 miles south of Hattiesburg, was tentatively scheduled for mid-summer, possibly July.

Crop, Weather Information Produces Corn Planting Data

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

First reports on a series of weekly readings on soil temperature, air temperature and rainfall compiled by the Pickaway County Agronomy Committee were announced today.

This program at present carries one definite advantage — the relationship of soil temperature and corn planting. It has been proven in some instances that corn can be planted April 25 in this area and be reasonably free from frost danger.

The normal date of the last killing frost here is May 2. Planting on April 25 gives seven days before emergence and the last killing frost.

This can be better substantiated by soil temperature. If near this date soil temperature at the minimum for the day is 50 degrees for three straight days, then corn can be planted.

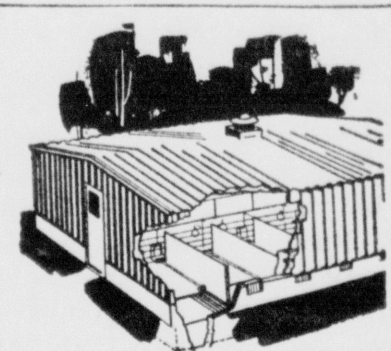

SOIL TEMPERATURE for the past three days at many of the Pickaway stations read about 50 degrees.

Weather stations in each township of the county record temperatures at 7 a. m. each day.

This is the period when they are lowest.

Here is a chart on the average air and soil temperatures and rainfall in various townships as reported for the week April 11-18:

Twp.	Air	Soil	Rainfall
Circleville	39	44	.8 inch
Deercreek	40	41	.5 inch
Monroe	45	38	1.6 inch
Harrison	52	44	.5 inch
Jackson	38	42	.6 inch
Madison	41	41	.6 inch

Submarine Fleet Vital

Now that the initial shock of the Thresher tragedy has given way to an all-out determination by the Navy to find out all that is humanly possible about the cause of the disaster, the nation may take time to reflect on the courage of the men who manned her.

Submarines played a mighty role in both the Atlantic and the Pacific during World War II, but the sea arm was not the primary tool which brought the axis powers to their knees. After the war, when it became evident the battleship and carrier had become little more than sitting ducks for modern weaponry, the Navy's future was seriously questioned.

Concepts of defense strategy have changed rapidly in short periods of time in the last decade, however, and even now are in a state of flux. But one fact has emerged from all of the bickering over which service shall have preeminence in a defense system heavily dependent upon effective retaliation methods.

The fact is that the nuclear-powered submarine is the foremost defense vehicle employed by the United States anywhere in the world. Its mission is twofold: vessels carrying Polaris missiles ring the perimeters of the free world as a mighty deterrent against attack. Submarines of the Thresher type provide highly maneuverable attack vessels to prey upon enemy shipping.

The Navy has 39 attack craft built or on order; 24 of these are of the Thresher class, indicating the importance of this type of submarine. Only two of the Thresher class, the Permit and the Plunger, are currently in commission, and there are no plans for changing specifications of the 22 others on order.

Pending the outcome of hearings by the Navy's board of inquiry and review of the hull structure now underway by the Bureau of Ships, there is no possible way of determining what effect the Thresher tragedy may have on the future design of ships of her type. The men of the Thresher gave their lives for the cause of freedom as surely as did the thousands who perished before them in so-called hot wars.

The sacrifice of these 129 lives can be avenged in no better way than by the free world renewing its determination to remove the present totalitarian scourge from the earth.

Dollar Will Look the Same

Elizabeth Rudel Smith's tenure as Treasurer of the United States was not protracted, but she did make a mark for herself which will be remembered for some time. She promoted the project of issuing United States currency in colors with such determination it appeared for a time the idea might catch on.

Even Congress took a long look at the proposal to differentiate between denominations by discarding the green for an array of pastels.

Opponents of the scheme gained the upper hand with aspersions including references to cigar coupons and trading certificates. But it took the ladies to put the finishing touches to the plan with the very realistic observation that no one minds the ensemble to be worn with traditional green currency, but imagine the trials and tribulations before a dressing mirror when milady pictures herself removing an orange bill from a purple pocketbook or holding out a blue glove to receive a chartreuse one in change!

Mrs. Smith's successor, Karhtyn Granahan, understandably wants nothing but green to decorate the currency on which her signature appears. Her middle name is O'Hay. Testifying before a House Appropriations subcommittee, Mrs. Granahan left no doubt that whether backed by silver, gold or merely Uncle Sam's IOU, the greenback was here to stay — at least during her tour of duty.

"To me, it is traditional," she testified, "I do not think one should throw every piece of furniture out, for instance, just because it might be a little old-fashioned."

As members of the subcommittee applauded her statement, they did so with the firm assurance that the public was overwhelmingly behind both their acquiescence and the present Treasurer's determination to retain at least the traditional appearance of the U. S. dollar.

Now, if only others could be persuaded to do as much for its value.

Murder Is Routine

In the early days of the American West murder was a capital crime, just as it is today. But men lived by the might of their guns, without too much regard for courts and law. In some areas killings were so common that adeptness at drawing was frequently a requisite for survival.

Gradually the era of the gunman was ended, and human life came to be regarded with greater respect.

But today, in the East as well as in the West, murder has become almost routine in the news. In their brutality and wantonness many of the homicides of today are past human understanding.

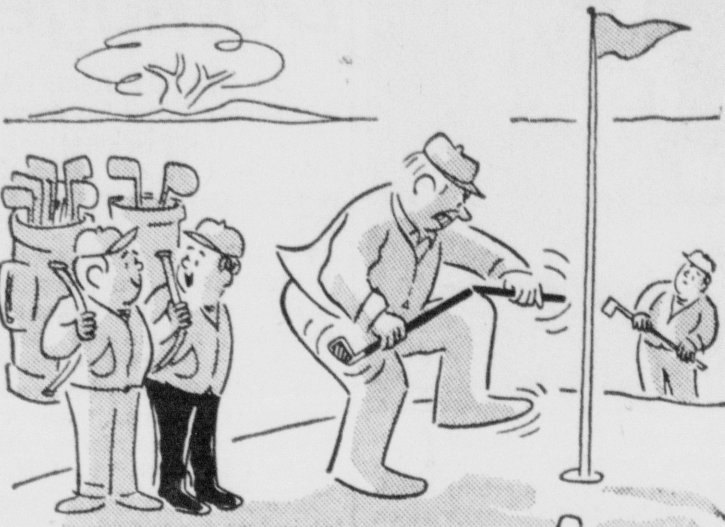

Whole families are wiped out merely to get the individuals out of the way because they do not fit in the pattern of a parent's live. Husbands shoot wives, wives murder husbands. Helpless children are killed while they sleep. Offspring murder their parents because they are refused spending money, or for some equally trivial reason.

Law enforcement put an end to the reign of the pioneer gunman. The six-shooter became obsolete. The present situation cannot be cured by mercy from the bench, easy paroles of convicted murderers or pleas of insanity too often taken for granted.

Murder must again be viewed as a capital crime, as it was in those earlier days, and the perpetrators punished accordingly.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE SPORTS EDITOR of a crusading newspaper got a phone call just before the bulldog edition went to press. "What do you mean, you can't make a buck at the race track any more?" demanded the caller. "I made over ten thousand dollars at Belmont this afternoon." "Who are you?" countered the editor. The caller answered, "I'm a horse!"

A new resident in a New England town was invited to join the volunteer fire brigade. "I'll do it," said the newcomer reluctantly. "But I must warn you that I'm not as young as I used to be, and I don't expect I'll be much good climbing up a ladder."

"Don't let that worry you," the chief assured him. "Nine times out of ten, by the time we get there, there's nothing to lean a ladder against."

Just after Pearl Harbor, a jittery youth took refuge in his storm cellar to escape being drafted. There he found his 90-year-old uncle hiding, too. "What have you got to worry about?" sneered the nephew. "You're ninety years old." The uncle answered, "So what? They need generals, too, don't they?"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Carbon monoxide is a gas you cannot taste, see or smell, but when it is inhaled in fairly large concentrations, it becomes extremely dangerous.

Carbon monoxide is produced by incomplete burning of solids, liquids, gases and fuels. Everyone knows that carbon monoxide is present in automobile exhausts. It is also present in industrial plants and garages, where fuel burning appliances are used.

There are specific precautions to be taken against carbon monoxide poisoning.

Most important, ventilation is your best safeguard. Be sure that furnaces, stoves and heaters are properly connected and in good working order. Check the exhaust system in your car or loose connections, and if there are holes in the muffler, replace it immediately.

Remember, too, to keep a window open if your car is idling any length of time.

Mechanical engineers have for years made significant contributions to the better health of our nation. Mechanical hearts, lungs, kidneys are outstanding examples.

The principle of the elaborate hydraulic systems that steady the movement of huge airplanes is now being applied to artificial limbs.

The Veterans Administration at the University of California is using these hydraulic legs for polio victims and for amputees.

This is a most gratifying advance in the total rehabilitation of these courageous people.

Because of a strange failure to develop properly in the early months of pregnancy, some infants are born with an opening in the palate. This is called a "cleft palate" and is recognized immediately after the birth of the child.

Many satisfactory operations have been devised to remedy this condition. Recently another excellent one was described which brings with it great hope for those who are unfortunate enough to be born with this deformity.

The child is operated on at about the age of one year, before speech has begun. It takes only about 90 minutes to perform this new, modified operative technique. Time, of course, is most important in surgery on very young children.

The results are excellent. The operation is particularly significant because children who previously would have been socially stigmatized because of their poor speech can now return to a normal physical and emotional existence.

If your child has measles, mumps, chicken pox or any other contagious disease, it is only fair that he be kept away from other children to avoid the spread of that disease.

Be sure to consult your doctor or Health Department Officer for the safe period of quarantine.

Still Competitive Economy

By John Chamberlain

Despite successive announcements of steel company selective price rises, the question of what kind of economy we are to have in the future is a lot clearer than it was a year ago. President Kennedy, taking a long breath, has indicated that he has no intention of trying to manage specific prices from the White House. He has, thanks Heaven, affirmed his belief in a competitive economy. But now that we are assured that the President believes in free prices, or in what used to be called the higgling of the market, the point of consistency rises. In support of his judgment that "selected price adjustments, up or down," are legitimate evidence that competitive capitalist system is working as it should work,

Chevalier Retains Popularity With Tricks Both Old, New

By ARMAND ARCHERD
Central Press Association

HOLLYWOOD — Maurice Chevalier, at 73, is still learning some new tricks — as well as practicing up on some old ones. Perhaps this is the formula for prolonged success and — happiness?

In his newest bag of tricks is — the Twist. He learned the Twist for television's "The World of Maurice Chevalier". As for his "old tricks", Chevalier still spends an hour daily reading into a tape recorder, then plays his voice back to himself.

The purpose: to improve his English. Of course, laughed Chevalier, if he ever lost his accent completely, he'd be finished, but he still doesn't want anyone to have to ask, "What did Chevalier just say?"

When a young dancer taught Chevalier to Twist for the television special, he was amazed how fast the Frenchman caught on. He has always had that knack — Those in Hollywood and desire. Those in Hollywood who remember when he was a star here tell many anecdotes about his learning the "American ways of life."

One studio worker recalls seeing Chevalier pecking away at a typewriter in his dressing room every day between scenes. They assumed he either was answering tons of fan mail, or was writing his memoirs.

One of the heartier workers sneaked a peak at a paper in the typewriter. It read, "Now is the time for all, etc., etc." Chevalier thought he ought to know how to type, so he was learning to type! In January of this year, he again visited Hollywood, this time for one of those "cameo" roles in "A New Kind of Love", which is supposed to take place in Paris. It stars Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward who had dressing rooms in the same row where Chevalier began his Hollywood career 37 years ago.

While here, Chevalier also visited another "Paris" set — Billy Wilder's "Irma La Douce", and he chinned with friend Walt Disney for whom he made "The Castaways", and for whom he will make another film.

"I like Disney," smiled Chevalier. "He makes sunshine pictures."

When he was cocktail-partied on the set, he modestly thanked everyone, said, "America has made me an 'International Frenchman' I will have America in my heart until my last smile."

We asked Chevalier if he had given any thought to retirement. "Retire?" he almost bristled. "Only when nobody wants me any more."

That time hardly seems to be in the cards. His plans for the remainder of the year include a tour of the United States, at least one more film, four weeks in London and a similar stint in Paris.

"My work is my life," he smiled. "I'd be very sad if I separated myself from the public."

He has maintained his touch with the public through the years by close touch with the press. We recall seeing him in London several years ago at a press conference. He showed up on time, and as he greeted the press corps representing a dozen countries he greeted each by name when he could recall, and the others with the exuberance of an old friend — further, he spoke in the language of the man's country in almost a half dozen instances!

It was easy to see the kind of enthusiastic reception the scribes would then transfer to their papers

Maurice Chevalier today.

Yes, he also remembered us with, "What are you doing here — so far away from Hollywood?"

On his latest visit to Hollywood, Chevalier also confided in his well-trained accent, "I feel I have just started all over again — I feel that just now I have reached the climax of my career. I think I am just beginning to live — not tomorrow, or the next day, but right now!"

It was obvious to see the secret for his success in his exuberance for his work. Any other "secrets?" "Yes," he winked. "Don't live too hard. Sometimes, success has a way of driving people to excess. This is not good."

The truth of the "International Frenchman's" words seemed to echo down the dressing room row where too many successful stars had indeed lived much "too hard". They weren't around at 73 — like Maurice Chevalier.

CONTEMPT SENTENCE—Robert C. Taylor, president of the Philadelphia Bulletin, leaves court in Philadelphia after being found guilty, along with city editor Earl Selby, of contempt of court for refusing to give the source of information concerning exposure of graft in City Hall. Judge Robert Kelley sentenced each to five days in jail and $1,000 fines.

the President has reaffirmed his opposition to a "general across-the-board price increase in steel." He seems to think that any such board action by the big bellwether companies would be tacit indication of collusion aimed at undermining the spirit of our anti-trust legislation. And, though "Gary dinners," or get-togethers of steel corporation bigwigs bent on what might be called price fraternization, went out of fashion long ago, the President could be right in his suspicions. There is nothing inconsistent in his being for selective price increases and against "across the board" action.

The real test of Presidential consistency, both logical and moral, would come if and when the United Steelworkers union decides to reopen its contract, as it is entitled to do any time before May 1. The steelworkers have become accustomed to making identical demands on all the companies, and a modern steel strike is always a universal thing. In short the union presided over by David J. McDonald insists on "across the board" action. And, though it is fashionable to argue that wages are not a "commodity" and should therefore be exempted from anti-trust laws, the USW's habit of making across the board demands concerning the price of wages is a function of a monopolistic position. The money paid for labor is just as much a cost as is the money paid for coal or iron ore, and if the terms for its payment are exacted at across the board pistol point it can hardly be said that free competition prevails.

The White House, if its reputation for moral consistency is to be retained, should therefore be just as adamant in opposing a strike aimed at all the steel companies at once as it is in objecting to universalized increase in carbon steel prices.

Whether the USW, in the present atmosphere, would deem it wise to put President Kennedy's reputation for consistency on the spot is an open question. To begin with, steel activity, though it has risen to some 80 per cent of the rated capacity which the mills had in 1960, is by no means certain to remain at that level. Steel is no longer the dominating factor in the economy. It fights aluminum, plastics, glass, laminated wood, and a whole host of other materials, in a bewildering variety of markets. Aluminum and galvanized iron compete for the roofing market; fruit juice can be put up in aluminum cans; the curtain walls of big high-rise buildings can be made of either aluminum or stainless steel. So the probability that any big across the board increase in steel prices can be made to stick has disappeared.

Since a buyers market still pertains in virtually all steel products (automotive body sheet may be an exception), the USW would be singularly ill-advised if it were to ask for a big across the board wage increase this May. To preserve its jobs, the steelworkers' union should be helping to promote the efficiency of the all-too-numerous high-cost marginal steel mills. This means it should try to write contracts with the smaller marginal companies in which efficiency sharing is linked or profit sharing. Any other method of trying to extract higher wages from the steel companies is bound to be self-defeating.

At the moment, USW President McDonald, resting at Palm Spring in California, is fighting to restore his health after a serious virus infection. His other problem is to restore the health of his union — and this calls for desisting from making any big across the board demands whatsoever.

This was the health meeting for the year. Mrs. Davis, from the County Health Department showed slides.

The club answered roll call with a health slogan. Joyce Long and Ernie Lindsey are health leaders.

As a community project the group decided to give money to several different organizations in the community.

The next meeting will be a safety session.

The club held its third meeting at the school Mar. 27. Joyce Long led the 4-H Pledge for the group. Roll call was answered by naming favorite colors.

Tommy Hamilton was chosen by the club to be their contestant for the Kiwanis heifer calf. Community projects were discussed but nothing definitely decided until the fourth meeting.

Pickaway County Colt and Equitation By Martha Rogers

When the roll of the Pickaway County 4-H Colt and Equitation Club was called at the Grange Building on the fairgrounds, members answered by giving details on progress of their projects for 1963.

Leslie Walker, club safety leader, collected safety quizzes which had been distributed at an earlier meeting. She also read safety rules for behavior around the barn.

Gail Trecker gave a health summary and concluded by asking members to think of additional health rules.

Club members discussed a movie, concerning horses, which was to be shown at the Grange Building.

It was announced that a riding meeting for the equitation members will be held on the last Sunday in April, weather permitting. Members of Hunter Equitation were invited to a hunter equitation class at the home of Mrs. Robert Fillinger.

Rough Riders By Carolyn Leist

The club held a meeting at the home of Butch Ford on April 8. Sheriff Walton Spangler gave an interesting talk on safety. He showed the club some photographs showing accidents due to poor driving.

The club added three new members, making a total of 18. Members will convene April 28th.

at the home of Dorwin Hay and bring their horses. A practice session is planned.

After adjournment refreshments were served by Mrs. Ford. Games were enjoyed.

Merry Mixers By Louise Adkins

A regular meeting of the Merry Mixers 4-H club was held April 8 at Circleville High School.

Pledges to the American and the 4-H Flags were given. Roll call was taken by the members pronouncing their names backwards.

It was decided to have a bake sale for a money making project. Mary Lee Skaggs was chosen to find a location. A publicity committee consisting of Mona Davis, chairman, Carolyn Walters, Paula MacKenzie and Sharon Evans was appointed.

Mona Davis reported on our community project. The health meeting was scheduled for June 3. Jeanne Bartholomew was chosen as queen contestant for the County Fair.

A demonstration was presented by Sharon Evans on picking out clothing. Another demonstration was given by Patsy Lattimer and Mary Lou Skaggs on how to conduct a tea.

Pickaway Troubleshooters By Richard Guthrie

The second meeting of the Pickaway Troubleshooters was held April 8 at the Hill Implement Co. Two new members, Bob and Jim Johnson, attended.

Members talked about safety on a tractor concerning lights, brakes, radiator, maintenance checks, cranking, driving and the need for a fire extinguisher.

Advisers Donald Hill and Donald Poling conducted the training session. The program committee is David Garrett, Jim Garrett, John Furniss and Jerry Vance.

Officers elected were: John Furniss, president; Bruce Peart, vice president; Jim Garrett, secretary; Eddie Schamehorn, treasurer; Richard Guthrie, news reporter; David Garrett, health and safety; Jerry Vance, recreation leader.

Saltcreek Sew and Serve By Vicki Fraunfelder

Saltcreek Sew and Serve met in the school cafeteria. Mary Dresbach gave the 4-H pledge and Janet Collins read the scripture. Members answered roll call by naming a flower.

Cooking demonstrations were given by Ruth Spung on how to make jello, Linda Fischer on how to unmold Jell-o and Elaine Fry on rolling and cutting out butter cookies. Marlene Thomas demonstrated how to sew a tablecloth.

Refreshments were served by Nadine and Martha Hinton, Connie Jones, Elaine Fry and Sharon Goodman.

Circlewires By Dale Lanman

The Circlewires held their second meeting April 4 at the REA building on E. Franklin St.

Officers elected were: Jim Minor, president; Steve Sykes, vice president; Tom Scothorn, secretary; Gary Sharp, treasurer; Dale Lanman, news reporter.

The club decided on dues of 10 cents per meeting.

Greenfield Firm To Quit; New Postal Rate Blamed

GREENFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Decline in business, increased costs and postal rates are given as the causes for the forthcoming dissolution of the Wilkint Hosiery Co., Inc.

The firm, once one of the nation's most successful mail order houses, announced it will go out of business at the end of the year. Sixty-four employees here and in nearby Leesburg will be affected.

Deercreek Unit Recognized As County's Club of Month

The Deercreek Variety Home Demonstration unit has been recognized as Demonstration Club of the Month.

The group was organized about 1950, with 24 members on the roster. Mrs. Charles Hissey was the first president. Meetings were held in individual homes.

In 1953 a new home demonstration agent came to Pickaway County and members learned many new ideas in homemaking and crafts. Some of the activities were chair caning, hooked rugs, textile painting, trays, purses, lampshades, basket weaving, huck weaving, furniture upholstery, and clothing construction.

State Universities Seen Boosting Student Fees

KENT, Ohio (AP)—The president of Kent State University says state universities will be forced to raise student fees if the legislature adopts Gov. James A. Rhodes' budget for public higher education.

Dr. George A. Bowman, the Kent State president, made that report Friday to the school's board of trustees. He said that under the governor's plan, annual tax assistance for each student would be $507, or $23 less for each student than two years ago.

"While it would be inadvisable to raise student fees, the state universities will be forced to take such action," Bowman said.

Tree-Climber Slated For Talk with Judge

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Joe Proffitt has a date with the municipal judge for refusing to come down from the top of a tall tree. Police said Proffitt, 39, climbed the tree Friday to catch a raccoon. He refused to come down when called and when police arrived, even climbed higher. Assistant Fire Chief Harvard Clark finally talked him down.

When last seen, the raccoon remained perched far out on a limb.

Homemaker News

Spring is here and to many this means time to do some spring housecleaning.

Housecleaning usually includes washing windows and woodwork, washing and ironing curtains, cleaning closets, cabinets and drawers and cleaning carpets. But many will also be painting different rooms throughout the house.

How do you know which color of paint to use? Painted walls should create a pleasing background for the furnishings, the people and the activities in a room. The color, texture and level of gloss of the "right" paint can do this.

The color is usually selected from small paint chips. Remember that the color as it appears on a small chip will be darker and brighter when it is used on a large wall area.

Light soft colored walls make a room seem larger. Dark colors absorb light and make a room seem smaller.

The soft greens, grays or blues may best be used in rooms with much sunlight. Light yellow, beige cream or peach give a light warm, cheerful appearance to north rooms.

Soft colors provide a restful feeling while reds or yellows indicate activity.

Colors differ in their power to reflect light. More light is needed when walls and ceilings are dark. Ceilings that are white or a very light tint of the wall color reflect artificial light the most pleasantly and efficiently.

A room appears more unified if the walls and woodwork are of similar color. A small room seems larger if the color of the wood trim is the same as that of the walls.

A larger room seems more restful when the walls and wood are of the same or very similar color. Irregular heights and uneven sizes of window frames doors, and built-ins are less noticeable if their colors blend with the walls.

Paints are available in three levels of gloss — flat, semi gloss and gloss.

Two popular types on the market today are the latex or water emulsion and the Alkyd - resin paint. These have largely replaced the oil - based (linseed oil varnishes).

Many of today's paints may be applied one over the other. Removal of dust and loose soil is a necessary treatment before a new coat is put on.

Alkyd and latex can be used one over the other. A gloss can be used directly over a flat paint.

If a gloss is to be used over a

Communist Liquor Is Banned in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Liquor Department is making a check of purchases with the aim of discontinuing any liquors produced in Communist countries.

William S. MacKenzie, deputy director of the department in charges of purchases, said he is checking all items offered for sale, or available through special order to determine which brands are produced in Communist countries.

"If any are found on state retail store shelves, in warehouses, or in special order books, they will be discontinued," he said.

With the best of cleaning and care.

A good roller with a medium nap will do less spattering than a long nap roller. Rollers require less physical effort than a brush once the technique of using it has been acquired.

When a roller is used either a brush or small special edge roller is necessary to paint corners and around frames and fixtures.

Group To Honor Mrs. Doherty Tuesday Night

When members of the Circleville branch of American Association of University Women hold their annual guest night, renamed the Lillian Doherty Lecture Series, Tuesday in St. Philip's Parish House, the organization will honor Mrs. Robert Doherty.

The honored guest attended Ohio State University and in 1924 married Robert Doherty and moved to Omaha, Neb. While there she received her B.S. degree in the field of education from Omaha University.

In 1948 the Omaha chapter of the National Conference of Christians and Jews sponsored a trip to Chicago where she addressed the convention of the National Council of English Teachers.

One of the many teaching experiences during her 40 years in the field of education included instructing a class of underprivileged children ranging in age from 10 to 16. Her curriculum also included music, art, crafts, sewing and woodwork.

Since moving to Circleville in 1956 she has participated in many activities.

Dear Abby: Too Late Now!

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We recently announced that our daughter's wedding date is June 22nd. A neighbor called and asked me what time our wedding was scheduled for. I told her we had planned it for 11 a.m. Then she told me her daughter was getting married at four o'clock the same day, and would we let her use our flowers? I didn't know whether to say yes, no or what, so, like a fool, I said yes. My husband told me I ought to have my head examined. Now he wants me to call her up and tell her if she wants to use our flowers she should pay for the florist bill. Would you?

SPOKE TOO SOON

DEAR SPOKE: The time to have suggested that your neighbor pay half the florist bill was when she asked to use your flowers. Having already said yes, it would be extremely awkward to add any ifs, ands or buts.

DEAR ABBY: We live in Hawaii. Last Christmas a friend from the mainland sent us a large box of apples from Oregon. The apples were in transit for almost four weeks and arrived rotten. Apparently they had been wrapped for protection against freezing, but not against heat. We wrote and thanked our friends for the "delicious" apples. Now we are wondering if maybe we shouldn't have written them the truth. What if they send us apples again next year?

HILO FANS

DEAR FANS: By all means, write and tell your friends the truth. You would be doing them a service. Any reputable company, whose business it is to ship fruit, is delighted—if not eager—to replace spoiled merchandise.

DEAR ABBY: In my possession is a perfectly good wedding ring that has never been worn. If it would make the woman happy who wrote and complained that her husband never gave her one, I shall be glad to send it to her. The story behind it is this: A friend of my husband's broke up with his fiancée and threw the ring out a window. My husband retrieved it and tried to persuade him to keep it, but he would have nothing to do with it. My husband is now dead and I do not know the friend's name, but I still have the ring and it might as well bring a little happiness to someone.

NORFOLK

DEAR ABBY: Please advise "L. J." not to become discouraged about being an "unwanted child." I, too, was an unwanted child, but now I am wanted in eleven states and Mexico. Sincerely,

"BIG RED"

Stop worrying. Write to Abby. For a personal reply enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope. To ABBY, Box 365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

New Bishop Fears Church 'Isolated'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A church isolated from its people "doesn't amount to much," says Bishop Paul Neff Garber, new president of the Council of Bishops of the Methodist Church.

Bishop Garber, elected Thursday at the final day of the council's three-day convention, said the church will try to learn why fewer men are entering the ministry—a trend he attributes to the church's isolation.

Garber, 63, said his Richmond, Va., church is "filled every Sunday because that church touches the lives of the people."

He proposed that the church deal actively with care for the aged, higher education and other social problems.

Fire Marshal Shuts 4 Branch Offices

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — By locking up branch offices in Youngstown, Toledo, Cleveland and Cincinnati, State Fire Marshal Fred Rice says he expects to save enough money to hire and pay expenses of three more men for his division.

Rice said his inspectors work from their homes. When a 23rd inspector is hired shortly, there should be enough to handle the job statewide, even though there have been six or eight more than that in the past, he said.

Rice, who hammered at economy when a member of the Ohio House Finance Committee in 1961, closed the branch offices shortly after becoming fire marshal earlier this year. He said the workload did not justify the expense of keeping them open.

Ohio Dem Chief Convinced His Party Far from Dead

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — In the manner of Mark Twain, state Chairman William Coleman says reports about death of the Democratic Party in Ohio are greatly exaggerated.

Coleman asserts that Republicans will discover just how exaggerated the reports are after reading 1964 election returns.

"There is a great deal of enthusiasm and determination among Democrats throughout the state," Coleman says. "We expect results."

To capitalize on that feeling, Coleman called a meeting Monday evening in the Neil House here of county chairmen to form a working association for the coming political push.

He expects about 70 of the 88 county chairmen to attend, with representation from metropolitan and predominantly rural areas. He plans subcommittees on finance, women's activities, young voters, minority groups, projects and questions and issues.

The state chairman brushes off mounting criticism by U. S. Sen. Stephen Young, Ohio Democrat, who may aspire to reelection without actually saying so.

Young blames Coleman, former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's "hand-picked chairman," for the party's loss of Ohio in the 1960 presidential election and smashing defeats in 1962 when Republicans won all major state offices, gained two seats in Congress and strengthened their control in the legislature.

In his late, broadside, Young said "it will be over my dead body" if Coleman or DiSalle leads the Ohio delegation to the 1964 National Democratic Convention. DiSalle headed the 1960 delegation.

The senator has called repeatedly for Coleman's ouster as chairman and pictured the forthcoming meeting of county chairmen as a move to bypass state headquarters.

Coleman, who has been state chairman since May 23, 1961, reiterates that he won't resign or be ousted.

"We have far more important things to do right now than to worry about who is going to head the Ohio delegation" to the national convention, Coleman says.

Commenting on Young's claim that county chairmen will bypass state headquarters, Coleman says:

"We are the ones who are setting up the association to develop a closer liaison with the county committees and the state committee. There certainly is no effort to bypass. We have got work to do."

Young attributes much of the party's difficulty in Ohio to what he calls Coleman's devotion to his Marysville law practice at the expense of state headquarters.

But Coleman says he spends most of his time on party business and points out that he has not drawn his $15,000-a-year salary since last November.

Describing state headquarters as nothing but "a slum," Young says he hasn't set foot in Coleman's office since he became a senator in 1958.

"I wonder if he would like to see a couple of pictures we took during his visits," Coleman replied.

Coleman laughs at Young's suggestion that the state chairman run for congressman-at-large next year. Without indicating his plans, Coleman noted that the state chairman is named by state committee members who are elected in the May primary.

Young voiced his latest views in Washington after a conference with John Bailey, national Democratic chairman, and Stephen Smith, brother-in-law of President Kennedy, who may manage a presidential reelection campaign.

The senator said Smith "didn't voice an opinion" on ouster of Coleman before his term expires in May of next year but Young indicated White House backing for his stand.

Young said he wouldn't attend the Columbus meeting. Coleman said DiSalle has been invited but the former governor has not said whether he would attend. The usually vocal DiSalle has declined to mix in the Young-Coleman exchange.

Bailey and Smith attended a recent meeting of nearly a score of county chairmen in Cleveland. Some reports said the chairmen refused to close ranks behind Coleman.

But Coleman said the Cleveland session was "very cooperative" and that he had "good relations" with Ray T. Miller, Cuyahoga County Democratic chairman who has been at odds with DiSalle.

As to party prospects, Coleman recalls that Democrats had only 20 seats in the Ohio House after the 1946 election but gained a majority two years later. In 1956, the party took only 40 House seats but won a majority in 1958.

Don't Look Now But Athletics Are Leading AL

Kansas City Edges Into Top Spot with Doubleheader Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Kansas City took over first place today in the American League. . . Kansas City?

Yep, Kansas City, where everything is up to date, including the green and gold uniforms of the Athletics.

And even if the A's have gone about as far as they can go, they hold the top spot by themselves for the first time since they moved to Kansas City for the 1955 season.

The Athletics vaulted into the lead Friday with a two-night doubleheader sweep over the Los Angeles Angels by identical 3-2 scores. That gave the A's six victories in their last seven games, a record forged on good pitching—the commodity so sadly lacking last season.

The Boston Red Sox also won two games, celebrating Patriot's Day with 3-1 and 5-1 decisions over the Detroit Tigers.

In other American League games, the New York Yankees walloped the Washington Senators 8-4, the Chicago White Sox beat Minnesota 3-1 and Baltimore topped Cleveland 4-5.

In the National League, San Francisco took over first place by beating the Chicago Cubs 5-1. Sandy Koufax blazed a two-hitter as the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated Houston 2-0. St. Louis topped Philadelphia 5-1 and the New York Mets won their first game after eight defeats, 5-4 over Milwaukee.

The Cincinnati-Pittsburgh game was rained out.

The A's won the first game in the seventh inning when George Alusik homered off Bo Belinsky to break a 1-1 tie. Bo Turley's comeback bid for the Angels fell just short in the second game when Ed Charles singled the winning run across in the ninth for the A's.

Tall Gene Conley, recovered from his pro basketball injuries, made his first start in the morning game at Boston and got the decision. Shortstop Eddie Bressoud cracked two homers and second baseman Chuck Schilling hit one for the three Boston runs.

Ike Delock threw a strong two-hitter in the afternoon game. Roman Mejias homered for Boston and Al Kaline hit one for Detroit. Mejias' homer broke a 1-1 tie and started a four-run sixth inning. Sore-armed Frank Lary was the victim.

Elston Howard and Roger Maris smashed consecutive homers leading off the ninth inning to break a 3-3 tie at Washington, as the Yankees went on to a five-run inning. Maris was in the lineup for the first time this season, after being out with a pulled hamstring muscle. His slugging partner, Mickey Mantle, will be out another week. He pulled a chest muscle last Saturday.

Camilo Pascual, a 20-game winner last season with five shutouts, lost his third straight without a victory this season against the White Sox. J. C. Martin's home run and a two-run single by Ron Hansen did the damage, and Juan Pizarro threw a five-hitter for the Sox.

A five-run eighth inning brought the Orioles victory over the Indians, on an unofficial "Venezuelan night" at Baltimore. Luis Aparicio, playing before a group of his fellow Venezuelans including the acting ambassador, had four hits including a homer and a double, scored three runs, stole a base and saved a run with a spectacular catch. Vic Davalillo of Cleveland, another Venezuelan, had three hits.

The Circleville Herald, Sat. April 20, 1963
Circleville, Ohio

STARTING POINT—The ten fingers that Dave Morehead is holding up here indicate the 10 Washington Senators he struck out as he made his debut as a pitcher for the Boston Red Sox. Morehead, a 19-year-old righthander, won 10 for Seattle last year.

Registration for VA Swing Club Is Open until May 14

Registration for the Swing Club, an organization open to all golfers at the Chillicothe Veterans Hospital, closes May 14. It was announced today by Kenneth Speakman, Circleville representative of the unit.

Persons who wish to participate in the program, which combines rehabilitation of patients with economical golfing, may contact Speakman at 108 W. Main St.

An orientation course, slated to be given 7 p. m. May 14, must be taken by all participants. The program, which began last week,

Lady Golfers Hold Roundup at PCC

The Ladies Golf Assn. held its annual Spring Roundup this week at the Pickaway Country Club.

Officers elected by the group for the coming year are Miriam Young, chairman; Elsie Edstrom, co-chairman; Jane Speakman, secretary; Kathlene Jenkins, treasurer. There were 44 present at the meeting.

Following the meeting and lunch, a best ball threesome was shot by the members.

Winners were Charlotte Cassidy, Erma Hedges and Edith Gordon with a 31. Jan McKelvey Sue Spires and Miriam Young were runners-up with a 35.

During April and May a golf clinic will be held by PCC pro Tom Cassidy at 11 a. m. each Thursday for members of the Ladies. Interested in joining the group are urged to attend the next meeting.

St. Louis Kegler Wins Akron Event

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Harry Smith of St. Louis, who does a jitterbug step after each delivery, can really swing now with the $5,000 first prize check he picked up for winning the Akron Open Bowling Tournament.

He captured the $25,000 tournament by 17 pins over Tom Hennessey of St. Louis Friday night, 208-191. Hennessey collected $2,500 for his second straight runnerup finish in the Rubber City tournament.

Hennessey failed to strike in his first five frames and never did put two strikes together. Smith had a strike in the second frame and then put back-to-back strikes in the fourth and fifth frames to open up his lead.

All four finalists were from St. Louis.

Tiger Nine Scores 50 Runs In Six Games

Unofficial statistics compiled on the Circleville baseball team after six games all of them wins show the Tigers have scored 50 runs on 44 hits.

The team batting average is just a little better than .280.

Leading the list of hitters who have 10 or more official trips to the plate is Jack Cook, veteran Tiger catcher. He owns a lusty .473 batting average.

Garold Dade, right fielder and pitcher, is hitting at a .444 clip and Gary Stewart has a .400 average.

DAVID GREENE is currently hitting at a .500 mark, although he has less than 10 official turns at bat.

Hard running has played an important role in Circleville's victories. The Tigers have a total of 68 stolen bases in the record books.

Chet Iery, sophomore center-fielder leads the team in the theft department with 11 in six games. While the Tigers have been so dangerous on the base paths, they have been equally effective defensively. Only four bases have been pilfered by opponents.

This more than adequate support provided to the pitching staff has given the four Circleville hurlers a perfect record.

Veteran George Reeser and Garold Dade have two wins each in as many starts. Dave Greene and Skip Lutz each have one.

Local Sportsmen Approve Wildlife Season Changes

Pickaway County farmers and sportsmen who attended the game hearing held in the 4-H and Grange building at the Fairgrounds Thursday sanctioned recommendations made by the Department of Wildlife for the coming game seasons.

The department recommended an earlier start for squirrel, rabbit and pheasant seasons. The earlier starts will in effect lengthen the season since the closing dates were not changed to any great extent.

Another recommendation made by the department was to remove limitation of 250 or more acres for farmers wanting to open their farms to quail hunting.

A proposed two-day deer season was approved by the local group.

Robert Wolf and Walter Richards were named to represent the county at the district hearing at Chillicothe June 13.

Eagles Await Paul Brown's Checkbook

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles awaited offers today from prospective buyers after stockholders voted to sell the National Football League franchise for a minimum of $4,550,000, with the stipulation it be kept in this city.

The most likely buyer appeared to be a syndicate headed by Paul Brown, who expressed interest in purchasing the club after he was fired as general manager and coach of the Cleveland Browns last January. If the franchise is sold for $4,550,000 it would mean a profit of $47,000 on each share of stock.

Frank McNamee, president of the Eagles who along with Michael J. O'Neill was delegated to carry out the negotiations, said late Friday night he hadn't heard a thing from Brown after the vote. McNamee said, "I would think he (Brown) would get in touch with us."

Brown could not be reached for comment. He has been unavailable to newsmen since his interest in the Eagles was disclosed in an Associated Press story April 5.

that victory Sunday night in the fifth game of the playoff series at Boston.

Boston won the pivotal fourth game Friday night 108-105. The Celts have three games in which to win the required one more in the best-of-7 series.

"We've never lost three games in a row," said Red Auerbach, Celtic coach.

Veteran Bob Cousy added: "Everything is in our favor now. We'll have no one but ourselves to blame if we lose."

Boston led at every stage of Friday night's game. The teams finished in a 54-54 tie in rebounds, but Los Angeles shooting was miserable in the first and third periods.

The Celtics had a 23-7 lead before the Lakers could muster a shadow of a passing game. Boston's passing was up to the Celtic standard.

Auerbach called the game "a fine team effort, with Tom Sanders doing a good job on the Lakers' Jerry West and our Tom Heinsohn (35 points) playing his finest game as a pro."

We wish to express our sincere and heartfelt thanks to relatives, friends, and neighbors for their sympathy, beautiful floral offerings and a many kind deeds shown to the death of our beloved wife and mother, Violet L. Reed.
Special thanks to the pallbearers Rev. H. Bennett, R. Humble, Mrs. Florence Clark and the Hill Funeral Home.
The Harley Reed family and Rev. and Mrs. Reed.

In Memoriam

"In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Marvin Eugene Hanley, who was killed on April 20, 1959, at the age of 17 years.
"In Memoriam"
One precious to our hearts is gone.
The voice we loved is still.
The place made vacant in our home,
Can never more be filled.
This day brings sad memories.
Of our loved one gone to rest.
And those who think of him each day.
Are the ones who loved him best.
No one knows the silent heartaches
Only those who have lost can tell.
Of the grief we bear in silence.
For the one we loved so well.
In our hearts his memory lingers.
Always tender fond and true.
There is not a day dear Marvin
We do not think of you.
God has eased our pain and sorrow.
As down life's road we tread each day.
He has held us by the hand.
And guided us along the way.
Sadly missed by father and mother.
Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hanley, sisters, Evelyn, Rose Mary and Delores, brothers Paul, Melvin and Donald.

AS ONE MASTER TO ANOTHER—That traditional green coat, which goes to the winner of the Masters golf title, now is worn by Jack Nicklaus (left), the 23-year-old former Ohio State star, with the 1962 winner, Arnold Palmer, doing the honors. Nicklaus now will try for the "Grand Slam," which includes victories in U.S. Open, the PGA and British Open.

Views on Television - Radio

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Alas, the time has come for our annual dirge for television's losers, the shows that won't make it back next season.

It's a sad business, saying farewell to those series that started out with fond hopes of being another "Dr. Kildare" or a "Hazel" but never quite made it.

It's even sadder to bid goodbye to those successes that have lived their span and now must shuffle off to syndication. All series must face it some day, unless they're Ozzie and Harriet or Ed Sullivan.

And so, so long to "The Untouchables"; too bad you ran out of ammunition.

Goodbye, "Hawaiian Eye," and toodle-oo, "G. E. True."

"Going My Way," I'm sorry you aren't.

"McKeever and the Colonel" and "Ensign O'Toole," you're discharged.

As for "Gallant Men," you won your battles but lost the rating war.

"Rifleman," you've shot your wad.

Lloyd Bridges, back to your aqua-lung.

"Mr. Smith Went to Washington" but was defeated for re-election.

Too bad "The Voice of Firestone" will be stilled.

Sadder yet is the loss of Dick Powell Theater.

"Sam Benedict," you've handled your last case.

"Car 54, Where Are You?" Canceled, that's where.

The network ride was too rough for "Stoney Burke" and "Wide Country."

And "Laramie," "The Dakotas," and "Empire" will be riding off into the sunset.

It's been a lot of laughs, "Dennis the Menace," "Real McCoys" and "Dobie Gillis," but not any more.

"I'm Dickens, He's Fenster," you're both finished.

You, too, "Our Man Higgins" and "Leave It to Beaver."

Jet off, "Jetsons."

Farewell, "Fair Exchange." Come back soon, Fred Astaire.

Goodbye, too, "Naked City," "Stump the Stars".

Goodbye, all of you. Sorry you have to move over for the bright new shows that will be taking your time slots this fall, most of which—alas—we'll be saying goodbye to at this time next year.

Garden Plaza Design

Apartment Project Planned in City

The J. Boyd Stout Co., local builders, has announced plans for a large apartment project on Nicholas Drive near Northridge Road.

The entire project calls for 60 rental units, to be built at a total cost of about three-quarters of a million dollars. The name Garden Plaza Apartments has been designated. Construction will be of colonial design.

Preliminary work has already started on the first three buildings. They consist of 12 two-bedroom units and six three-bedroom units.

According to spokesmen for the company, the three buildings should be ready for occupancy by August of this year. They said all units will be air-conditioned and have ranges, ovens, refrigerators and disposals furnished.

PLANS CALL for each apartment to have a large size living room, kitchen, private basement, dining room and 1½ baths with shower and vanities. Sliding glass doors will open on to a private patio in the rear. Large closets and a pantry are features of the plan. The buildings will be of brick construction in keeping with the colonial design. Off street parking will be provided for tenants and guests. Garages will be available.

The Stout company will provide lawn care and snow removal. A swimming pool for convenience of the occupants is planned in the near future, officials of the firm said.

Spokesmen said the two-bedroom units are scheduled to rent for $100 per month, three bedroom quarters for $110 per month.

The buildings will be constructed in an area adjacent to the Garden City Subdivision, also owned by the Stout firm. The site branches out from the former location of the Wayne Martin residence on Nicholas Drive.

The project is one of the largest apartment houses on Watt St. of its type initiated in this area. The Stouts also own a 12 unit apartment on Watt St.

Nixon To Face Editors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who angrily swore off press conferences last November, prepared today to face the questions of 500 newspaper editors.

Cuban Invasion

government ever informed anyone in the government or outside the government Dr. Cardona or anyone else that we were going to launch, committed ourselves to launch, a military invasion with six divisions" the President said.

Kennedy said "the United States cannot launch itself into a massive invasion of Cuba without considering the world-wide implications to other free countries and also its effect upon our own position."

But the President said he hoped the refugees did not see the present situation as "a struggle between the United States and the exiles."

"We want to work with Dr. Cardona and all other Cubans," Kennedy said, "but we must maintain the control of our policy here in the United States and here in Washington and will continue to do so."

In a speech that preceded the question and answer period Kennedy said that "a cut of $5 billion now from the proposed federal budget, as many have suggested, would cause 1 million fewer jobs by the end of the fiscal year."

This brought a retort later from some congressmen who have been trying to cut the budget.

"Pure poppycock" was the reaction of the Republican Congressional Committee.

The President rejected a suggestion by the Civil Rights Commission that the federal government cut off funds to Mississippi for failing to uphold the civil rights of its Negro residents.

"I don't have the power," the President said, "and I would think it would probably be unwise to give the president of the United States that kind of power because it could start in one state and for one reason or another it might be moved to another state which was not measuring up as the president would like to see it measure up in one way or another."

Democrat Meet Called Tuesday

A joint meeting of the Pickaway County Democrat Central and Executive Committee has been scheduled for 8 p. m. Tuesday in the basement of the Elks Lodge.

All county Democrat elected officials have been requested to attend the meeting by the committee. An open discussion with all elected officeholders is planned.

In addition to committee members, these officeholders have been requested to attend: Marvin H. Rohoads, auditor; Clyde Michel and Lloyd Melvin, commissioners; James H. Mowery, clerk of courts; Walton W. Spangler, sheriff; Henry T. McCrady, engineer; and Guy G. Cline, probate - juvenile judge.

General Motors Chief Is Paid $791,475

DETROIT (AP)—Frederic G. Donner, chairman of the board of General Motors Corp., received $791,475 last year to become the highest paid executive in U. S. automotive industry history.

The federal income tax man took a major share of Donner's earnings, however. A company source estimated owner would pay $682,065 in federal taxes, leaving him with $109,410 net earnings.

He is a veteran of World War II and was decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal while a B-24 pilot in the European theater of operation. He has been active in working with the Auxiliary Patrol, Civil Defense and problems related to atomic radiation.

Armo Revises Steel Price Hikes Downward

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Armo Steel Corp. has rescinded one recent price increase and cut down on several others to make its new prices more competitive.

The company, the nation's sixth-largest producer, announced Friday it was rescinding the $4.50 per ton increase in the price of steel plates. A spokesman said the price hike for several types of other steel plate also was reduced.

Armo was one of the first steel producers to announce selective price increases this week.

Miro Aide Denies Rap Against JFK

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A former Cuban minister of state and his anti-Castro associates tried today to breathe new vitality into an exile organization which lost its president over a dispute with the Kennedy administration.

Dr. Manuel Antonio de Varona, describing himself as the Cuban Revolutionary Council's "secretary and servant," said in a statement Friday "in this struggle, our main objective is Cuba's freedom which is enslaved by Communists."

"For this reason we need the United States' help and that of all the nations of the Free World. We cannot cause despair among the Cuban public nor lead them to believe we have broken relations with our greatest ally."

Of a charge by resigned council President Jose Miro Cardona that President Kennedy broke a promise for a second invasion of Cuba, Varona said "I never knew of a promise by President Kennedy for a second invasion."

In Washington Kennedy personally rejected Miro's bitter accusation.

"Obviously nobody in the United States government ever informed Dr. Cardona, or anyone else, that we would launch an invasion," the President said. He called on all exile leaders to cooperate toward the aim of a free Cuba.

DeGaulle Fearful Of West Allies

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle remains determined that France build up her own nuclear strike force. He also wants the European Common Market to push forward — but without Britain.

De Gaulle restated these key points of his foreign policy in a nationwide radio and television speech Friday night. He also called on workers to use restraint in their wage demands in order to avoid inflation.

French survival in the nuclear age demands a purely independent national atomic arsenal, the 72-year-old leader said. It wasn't safe depending on allies, he added.

Tornado Dips

Communications at the Warren police station were out for a time.

The Emporium, another Giant Tiger store completed only last November, in Canton, had a 30,000-sq-ft section of roof ripped off. Manager Joen M. Jason said damage would run to several hundred thousand dollars.

At Marion, an intense thunder-squall did extensive damage to garages, windows and chimneys in a two-block area of the city's south end. A front window broke at Marion Community Hospital, sending shattered glass over the lobby. Two persons were injured.

Columbus, north end took the brunt of a short but severe wind and rain storm in the afternoon. A large section of roof blew off Sharon Elementary School while 325 pupils were in class. None was injured, and none panicked. Rain poured into the school building and ran inches deep through class rooms and corridors.

In southwest Ohio, a funnel-shaped cloud appeared in the Yellow Springs area of Greene County, and later another one moved across Butler, Warren and Clinton counties apparently without touching down.

In the Cincinnati area, high winds felled trees and television aerials. A 30 by 90-foot tent for exhibitions of the Springdale Youth Association collapsed, temporarily trapping three workmen. They were not hurt.

Albert Lee Smith, 6, of 370 E. Walnut St., was treated for a head injury after being struck on the forehead with a stone thrown by a neighbor boy.

Driver Injured In Auto Crash

Robert Hare, 20, Route 3, received multiple sprains of the shoulder and arm late yesterday in a one-car accident on the Circleville Florence Chapel Road.

He was treated and released at Berger Hospital.

According to Sheriff's Deputies William Pontious and Gene Kerns, Hare's auto ripped out 36 feet of guard rail fence and six posts when he lost control attempting to negotiate a curve. The car was heavily damaged, they said.

The officers said Hare would be cited into Circleville Municipal Court.
